

The 90-Day Prosperity Experiment

Day 22: The Nose Knows by Kate Nowak

Hello from my heart to yours!

Reading about prosperity isn't enough. We need to think, dream, speak, taste, smell and feel prosperity, too. This means it is important to spend time daily thinking of ways to incorporate more prosperity into our lives. Today, for instance, let's concentrate on what the nose knows. What does prosperity smell like to you? A beautiful garden? Leather upholstery? Salt air on a secluded beach?

Pick any aroma that symbolizes prosperity for you and then imagine yourself being in a place and time where you are surrounded by this particular aroma. Let it fill your nostrils and then pull the scent down into your lungs. Close your eyes and luxuriate in the wonderful fragrance of prosperity. This is an important exercise because in letting your olfactory senses participate in your imagining, you allow the idea of prosperity to solidify and become real to you. And as it becomes more real in your mind, it will become more a reality in your life.

Prosperity smells good, doesn't it?

Repeat the exercise at least three more times throughout the day, making certain that it is one of the last thoughts you contemplate before going to sleep.

Fragrant dreams...

Today's Action Step:

1. Re-read your Prosperity Business Plan and your Ten Things Gratitude list.
2. Place today's allotment of money in your container and read the affirmation on the container three times.
3. Bless those around you, including your fellow participants in this experiment. See those you bless prospering and surrounded by good. Then bless yourself and see the same. You may also want to continue blessing those on the blessing request list.

Today's Quote:

"You are prosperous to the degree that you are willing to experience it."

--Catherine Ponder

Today's Affirmation:

"My life is fragrant with possibility."
